FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE*Quality Aircraft Tooling is acquired by AIM27 – Customer Service and Quality Remain Priority #1

MARIETTA, GA. – August 1, 2017 – AIM27 Inc. is pleased to announce the addition of Quality Aircraft Tooling Inc. (QAT) to its investment and management portfolio. AIM27 will maintain the high standards of quality and service that have come to be the hallmark of QAT, while expanding the market share of the company. QAT, with its Aero Info division, have been providing the aviation industry high-quality products delivered with superior customer service for more than 45-year.

Ivan Kahn, President of AIM27 Inc., will serve as the new President & CEO of QAT, commenting, "Our goal is to expand the marketing of QAT's products to new customers world-wide, while continuing to deliver the outstanding customer service and highest-quality products our existing customers have come to expect. Achieving these goals will be possible thanks to the expertise and experience of the highly skilled staff at QAT." Mr. Kahn continued, "QAT does not shy away from custom orders. We manufacture to our customers' specific needs, which means we often provide solutions our competitors avoid."

Quality Aircraft Tooling Inc. is a wholly owned subsidiary of AIM27. QAT, together with its Aero Info division, designs and manufactures high quality specialized tooling, and equipment for engine handling, as well as change out kits, shop/bench test, ground electronic and mechanical test, in-flight test and line maintenance equipment. Additional capabilities include repair and calibration services for all aviation products. QAT is a holder of intellectual property manufacturing rights.

Both QAT and Aero Info, with 45+ years in the industry, are established names with reputations for superior customer service, high quality deliverables, and expertise to get the job done. QAT and Aero Info customers are world-wide, and include major air carriers and the U.S. military. Visit us at QualityAircraftTooling.com and at AeroInfoInc.com.
